Having won at least a silver and in the following selection tournaments:

- The taekwondoin will be selected in the weight category where they fulfilled the selection criteria.
- The body of junior athletes is still developing. If a selected taekwondoin can no longer maintain their weight to stay in the category in which they were selected, after an analysis of their chances of success and upon request by their Technical Director, the taekwondoin may move up to a higher category, provided that no one had been selected in that higher category.
- If certain selection tournaments had to be cancelled, the National Selection Committee reserves the right to review the criteria.

2.2 In Case of a Tie

2.3 In Case of a New Tie

In case of a new tie, the National Selection Committee will select a taekwondoin based on a multifactorial analysis of the case, taking into account the parameters described in point 3.3.

3. Deliberation

The National Selection Committee may select a taekwondoin based on a multifactorial analysis of their case, oriented towards their chances of success. This deliberation is not automatic and is left to the discretion of the Technical Director from the federation with which the taekwondoin is affiliated.

3.1 Deliberation for a Taekwondoin Who Met the Selection Criteria

The National Selection Committee may propose that a taekwondoin who met the selection criteria but was not selected competes in a higher or lower category, provided that the category is vacant.

3.2 Deliberation for a Taekwondoin Who Did Not Meet the Selection Criteria

A taekwondoin who did not meet the direct selection criteria (see 2) may still be selected through deliberation if they satisfy at least the following condition:

- Having won at least two bronze medals, with at least 1 fight won in each case, in the 3 selection opens.

3.3 Factors Considered in Deliberation

The deliberation process takes into account the following (non-exhaustive list):

- Competition level.
- Number of fights won.
- Level of opponents they lost to.
- Level of opponents they defeated.
- Results achieved in other weight categories.
- Weight stability.
- Body fat percentage.
- Standing height.
- Taekwondoin's age in the category.
- Training environment
- Progression potential between the registration deadline and the target event.
- ...

4. Validation of the Selection

The National Selection Committee validates the selection based on these criteria.

Note:

Selected junior athletes must continue their training program to arrive at the 2026 WJC in the best possible shape. If, due to prolonged or repeated absences from training, the Technical Direction observes a decline in competition level, the selection may be suspended or canceled.
